FIG. 6

FIG. 7 is a flowchart illustrating a process for updating program information and placing wagers. The process begins with receiving program information (702) and a request for a web page (704). It then transmits the web page (706) and displays a split screen interface (708). The display is updated with program information (710), which then leads to receiving a wager selection (712) and forwarding it (714) to place the wager (716).
